THAT MOMENT BETWEEN

MAKING A GRADE AND MAKING AN IMPACT.

It starts with an idea. Then grows into a bigger idea. At Idaho's premier research university, the contagiousness of possibility leads to doing more, seeing more and learning more. And with over 300 academic programs to choose from, your breakthrough is just around the corner.

WELCOME

to the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival!

WELCOME to two days and nights highlighting the amazing music education program we have here at the University of Idaho. The jazz festival showcases a true American art form.

It's great to see our campus buzzing this time of year with musical talent. The student performances, clinics and workshops — taught with the help of jazz greats — are a long-held tradition that aid in the development of young artists from schools across the Northwest.

The students, families, educators and community members who take part in this festival are continuing that legacy. Lionel Hampton's vision of celebrating jazz through music education is alive and well.

We're excited this year to welcome jazz icons Joshua Redman and Vertical Voices, as well as all 16 members of the Lionel Hampton Big Band. Our 53rd annual festival will also showcase our own Lionel Hampton School of Music Jazz Choir I and Jazz Band I, featuring Amy and Pat Shook.

Thank you for joining us. We have a great lineup in store for you.

Go Vandals!

Sincerely,

C. Scott Green
University of Idaho President

We are pleased to present this year's festival to students, educators and community members as we continue to be grounded in tradition and breaking new ground in music education. Our days are filled with cross-campus student performances and workshops given by premier artists and educators, all presented on our lovely campus. We then turn to our evenings in the ASUI-Kibbie Activity Center, with world-class jazz artists alongside the top student performers of the day. This is a one-of-a-kind, all-inclusive experience for musicians and music lovers of all ages.

We hope that you enjoy every minute of your time here. Take in all that you can — we hope that these two days will prove to be a transformative experience for all.

Please enjoy the festival!

JAZZIN'

Up Community Schools

Every year, more than 5,000 elementary and middle school students in the Northwest explore and experience the thrill of jazz in their own schools.

Jazz in the Schools — the community outreach program of the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival — takes master musicians and educators to classrooms in northern and central Idaho and eastern Washington. Throughout the year, students meet professional jazz artists, learn about the diverse forms of jazz music and practice their jazz skills through hands-on activities.

“Jazz in the Schools meets a very real need in the community, particularly in areas that don’t have access to high-quality arts programming,” said Vanessa Sielert, director of the Lionel Hampton School of Music. “It helps to foster an appreciation of music and the arts and of how music can be an important and transformative part of our lives.”

The program provides teachers and students with jazz education materials, activities and an interactive presentation with educators and artists. There is no cost for participating schools. Call 208-885-5900 or email jazzinfo@uidaho.edu for more information.

INTERNATIONAL JAZZ COLLECTIONS: Revealing the Roots of Jazz

A full appreciation of jazz requires a look back at the moments and artists that shaped this great American art form. The International Jazz Collections at the University of Idaho showcase this rich history and heritage as one of the significant jazz archives in the world.

Established in 1992 with the donation of the historical materials of jazz legend Lionel Hampton, the collections have become the primary jazz archive in the Pacific Northwest with over 500 scores, 5,000 photographs and 10,000 recordings (including the Carl M. Perricone and Bernie Strassberg Collections). The collections also house 45 cubic feet of letters and papers, 17 instruments, many personal items of jazz greats and decades of Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival materials and recordings.

The International Jazz Collections feature the archival papers of vibraphonist Lionel Hampton; jazz critic Leonard Feather; trombonist Al Grey; vocalists Ella Fitzgerald and Joe Williams; trumpeters Dizzy Gillespie, Doc Cheatham and Conte and Pete Candoli; pianist Jane Jarvis; bassist Ray Brown and saxophonist Buddy Tate. It also has scores by Gerry Mulligan.

The archive is available to students, jazz and music enthusiasts, musicians and scholars worldwide. View the International Jazz Collections at www.ijc.uidaho.edu or contact the University of Idaho Special Collections and Archives at 208-885-0845 or libspeg@uidaho.edu.

Friday Artists

Amy Shook

Known for her huge sound and infectious, driving groove, University of Idaho alumna Amy Shook '96 is one of the most in-demand upright bassists in the mid-Atlantic. In addition to being a premier performing and recording artist, she is an accomplished multi-instrumentalist, composer and music educator.

Shook co-leads her own band, the Shook-Russo 5tet, with drummer Frank Russo and tenor saxophonist Pat Shook. The group has recorded several albums featuring original compositions. Shook is also co-leader of the all-women powerhouse trio 3Divas, and she performs regularly with the Fred Hughes Trio, recording three critically-acclaimed albums with the trio.

Pat Shook

Born and raised in the Pacific Northwest, University of Idaho alumnus Pat Shook '94 has played tenor saxophone and woodwinds with the United States Army Field Band's Jazz Ambassadors since 2003. The group performs concerts around the world and provides educational clinics and master classes.

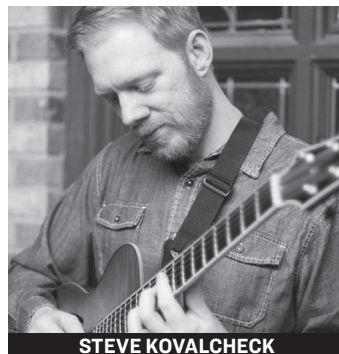

When not touring with the Jazz Ambassadors, Shook is active teaching, recording and performing in the Washington, D.C., and Baltimore areas. Shook has released two albums as co-leader: "The Shook-Russo-Young Quartet featuring Greg Gisbert" and "So Far From Home."

ERIK APPEGATE

BRIAN CLAXTON

STEVE KOVALCHECK

KATE SKINNER

LHJF Rhythm Section All-Stars

Erik Applegate (Bass)

A bassist, composer and songwriter, Erik Applegate has performed with many well-known jazz artists. He has toured with renowned pianist James Williams and in a trio with Harold Mabern and Ed Thigpen. He has released four CDs as a leader, including 2019's "Woodstock!"

Brian Claxton (Drums)

Brian Claxton is an award-winning drummer, composer and multi-instrumentalist. He has toured internationally with jazz piano legend Monty Alexander and performed alongside Donny McCaslin, Chris Potter and many other well-known jazz artists. He teaches at the University of Northern Colorado and the University of Wisconsin - Eau Claire.

Steve Kovalcheck (Guitar)

Guitarist and composer Steve Kovalcheck's professional experience includes recording and touring with recording artist Robinella and the CC Stringband. He is also a member of the Be3 Trio. Kovalcheck is a faculty member with the University of Northern Colorado's Jazz Studies Program where he leads the Jazz Guitar Ensemble.

Kate Skinner (Piano)

Kate Skinner is an in-demand jazz pianist and vocalist and has performed with many established jazz ensembles. She has won multiple awards, including a DownBeat award for Outstanding Vocal Performance and a Jazz Education Network award for composition. She is assistant professor of jazz piano in the Lionel Hampton School of Music at the University of Idaho where she directs Jazz Band II.

Friday Artists

VERTICAL VOICES: JULIA DOLLISON, KERRY MARSH (BACK), GREG JASPERSE AND JENNIFER BARNES

Vertical Voices

Vertical Voices is the premier professional contemporary vocal jazz ensemble appearing around the U.S. and Canada. The quartet performs their own original compositions as well as arrangements of music by Pat Metheny, The Yellowjackets, Imogen Heap and other contemporary jazz and pop influence. Their fresh, innovative approach utilizes wordless vocals, new compositions, improvisation and more. Their debut CD as a quartet, "Fourward," was released January 2014.

Julia Dollison

Julia Dollison is a performing vocalist, experienced studio singer and educator. She has performed with the Maria Schneider Orchestra at New York's Jazz Standard, appeared by invitation at several jazz conferences and headlined with Grammy-nominated pianist Geoffrey Keezer at the Brubeck Festival. She is a faculty member with the University of Northern Colorado's Jazz Studies Program.

Kerry Marsh

Kerry Marsh is a composer, educator and arranger specializing in contemporary music for vocal jazz ensembles. He is in high demand as a commissioned arranger for many of the nation's top educational vocal and instrumental jazz ensembles. In 2010, he and wife Julia Dollison released their debut album, "Vertical Voices: The Music of Maria Schneider." He is a faculty member with the University of Northern Colorado's Jazz Studies Program.

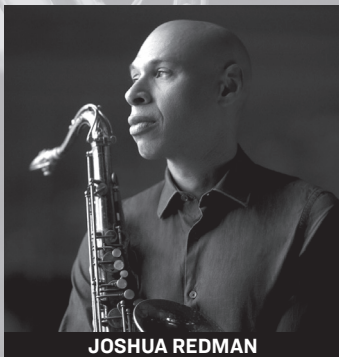

Jennifer Barnes

Jennifer Barnes is a sought-after vocalist, educator, clinician and arranger throughout the U.S. and Canada. Her work has been featured in advertisements for well-known brands, including Chili's Restaurant and McDonald's, and on screen in "Wall-E," "Enchanted," "Star Trek" and the FOX TV hit "Glee." Barnes is director of vocal jazz studies at the University of North Texas.

Greg Jasperse

Composer and arranger Greg Jasperse is in demand internationally as a clinician, adjudicator and guest conductor. He worked eight years as a professional musician before joining Western Michigan University as assistant professor of vocal jazz and director of the jazz ensemble. His voice is on many movie soundtracks, including "Epic" and "Star Trek," and he has released two solo piano CDs, "Tournesol" and "Crossings."

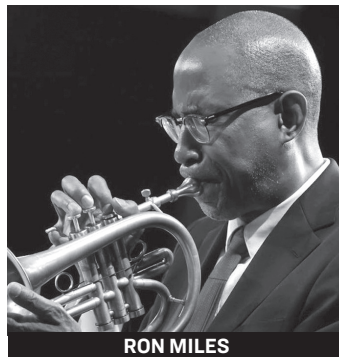

Saturday Artists

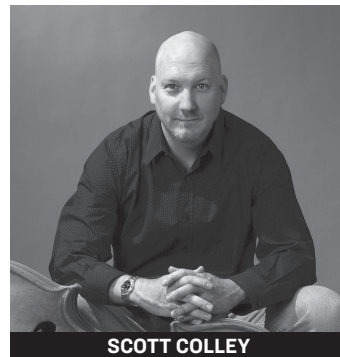

JOSHUA REDMAN

DAVE KING

RON MILES

SCOTT COLLEY

Joshua Redman (Saxophone) and the ‘Still Dreaming’ Quartet

One of the most esteemed and charismatic artists of our time, legendary jazz saxophonist Joshua Redman has been nominated for eight Grammys, including a 2019 nomination for Best Instrumental Jazz Album. Redman has also garnered top honors in critics’ and readers’ polls of DownBeat, Jazz Times, The Village Voice and Rolling Stone.

Redman has collaborated with a diverse and prestigious list of musicians during his career, including artists such as McCoy Tyner, Brad Mehldau, The Bad Plus and Brooklyn Rider. Influenced by styles ranging from hard bop to hip-hop, Redman evokes a sound that can be challenging, provocative and forward-looking, but also hard-swinging, melodic and soulful.

“Still Dreaming,” released in May 2018, features drummer Brian Blade, bassist Scott Colley and trumpeter Ron Miles. The ‘Still Dreaming’ Quartet has toured together since 2016, drawing inspiration from one of the seminal jazz groups of the ‘70s and ‘80s, Old and New Dreams, which featured Redman’s father, Dewey Redman, on tenor saxophone.

Dave King (Drums)

Dave King has traveled across 75 countries and six continents recording and performing. He co-founded a number of groups in the 1990s and early 2000s, including Happy Apple, Love-Cars, Halloween Alaska, The Gang Front and The Bad Plus. He has recorded and composed for film and has worked with fashion designer Isaac Mizrahi on his fashion week and TV show music.

Ron Miles (Trumpet)

Songwriter and cornet player Ron Miles is recognized as one of the finest improvisers and composers of his generation. He previously recorded as a leader for the Prolific, Capri, Gramavision and Sterling Circle labels. In addition to leading his own bands, Miles has performed in the ensembles of Joshua Redman, Bill Frisell, Mercer Ellington, Don Byron and many others.

Scott Colley (Bass)

Scott Colley is a leading bassist in the field of improvised music. The four-time Grammy nominee has performed on over 200 recordings, eight of those as bandleader and composer. He is renowned for his role in groups led by headliners such as John Scofield, Herbie Hancock and Chris Potter. In addition to “Still Dreaming,” Colley has been part of all-star projects like “Steel House,” with Edward Simon and Brian Blade.

Saturday Artists

Lionel Hampton Big Band featuring Jason Marsalis

The Lionel Hampton Big Band plays hard-swinging, authentic, exciting jazz, including all the Hampton hits and original arrangements that made Lionel Hampton a star. Made up of world-class musicians who played with Hamp himself, the band plays sold-out shows from coast to coast.

Co-leaders Lance Bryant, Christian Fabian and Cleave Guyton Jr. relaunched the band in 2015 at the request of the Hampton estate. In 2019, the band released its first CD, "Live at Rossmoor," a combination of hard-swinging tunes and funny stories about jazz at its peak.

The band features Jason Marsalis, son of jazz icon Ellis Marsalis, on vibes. Jason's "In a World of Mallets," CD was No. 1 on the CMJ Radio Charts and won Offbeat Magazine's award for Best Contemporary Jazz Album. As part of the celebrated New Orleans jazz family, he received the NEA Jazz Masters Award in 2009.

THE LIONEL HAMPTON

Legacy

For more than five decades, the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival has been keeping the magic, music and spirit of jazz alive, while inspiring generations of young artists to grow their talent and appreciation for one of America's original musical art forms.

Hosted by the Lionel Hampton School of Music in the University of Idaho's College of Letters, Arts and Social Sciences, the multi-day festival connects aspiring musicians from around the region to some of the best jazz artists and educators in the world. Each year, students, musicians, educators and jazz enthusiasts gather for a dynamic musical experience, with evaluated student performances, artists and educator workshops and clinics, the Jazz in the Schools program, and mainstage evening concerts featuring some of today's top jazz artists.

And at the center of it all: A jazz legend.

Honoring a Legend

Lionel Hampton was one of the most extraordinary musicians of the 20th century, and his artistic achievements left a lasting impact on jazz music and its role in American culture.

His long and accomplished musical career began while he was a young student at the Holy Rosary Academy of Wisconsin, where he took his first drum lessons from a Dominican nun. He continued to develop his musical talent as a high school student in Chicago.

In 1930, Hampton was invited to join a recording session with Louis Armstrong. During a break, Hampton walked over to a vibraphone and started to play. He ended up playing the vibes on a song during the session, and the song became a hit. Hampton had introduced a new voice to jazz, and he soon became the “King of the Vibes.”

Hampton went on to create more than 200 works including the jazz standards “Flying Home,” “Evil Gal Blues” and “Midnight Sun.” He also composed the major symphonic work, “King David Suite.” In 1996, Hampton was awarded the National Medal of Arts.

A Commitment to Education

The University of Idaho Jazz Festival began in 1967 with a dozen student groups and one guest artist. Growing each year, the event erupted onto the national stage in 1981 when students and spectators packed in to hear Ella Fitzgerald.

In 1984, Lionel Hampton joined the jazz festival excitement. Motivated by the enthusiasm of the students and his lifelong commitment to music education, Hamp pledged his support to the festival. This was the beginning of a longstanding partnership between Hampton, Emeritus Executive Director Lynn “Doc” Skinner and the festival.

In 1985, the festival took on Hampton’s name and became the first jazz festival named for an African-American jazz musician. And in 1987, the university’s music school was named the Lionel Hampton School of Music.

Over the next 20 years, the University of Idaho developed an unprecedented relationship with Hampton. Hampton and his band returned to the festival through the years to perform and teach, and he worked closely with the university to ensure his vision lived on through the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival, the School of Music and the International Jazz Collections.

With Hamp’s support, the festival garnered national attention. In 2007, President George W. Bush awarded the festival the National Medal of Arts, the nation’s most prestigious arts award. The University of Idaho became the first public university to receive the award since it was created by Congress in 1984.

Lionel Hampton died in 2002 at the age of 94, but his legacy and love for jazz will continue to inspire young artists for generations to come.

DOC SKINNER

The Visionary

Over its 53 years, the jazz festival at University of Idaho has been led by a handful of committed directors. But there's one man who is credited with transforming the event into the nationally known tradition it has become today: Doc Skinner.

Lynn "Doc" Skinner has been part of the jazz festival since he arrived in Moscow in the early '70s as the director of music education at the university. He became festival director in 1976, and in 1984, Skinner invited Lionel Hampton to the festival. The pair of musicians bonded over a passion for jazz and a shared dream to keep the art form alive and well through youth education. The two formed a partnership and friendship that infused the festival with an inspiring energy and a renewed focus on educating the next generation of jazz musicians.

Skinner served as executive director of the festival — which was renamed in Hamp's honor in 1985 — until he retired in 2007. During his tenure as executive director of the festival, he brought some of the world's greatest jazz artists to Moscow. In addition to Lionel Hampton, headliners included Ella Fitzgerald, Dizzy Gillespie, Stan Getz, Gerry Mulligan, Toots Thielemans, Ray Brown and Sarah Vaughan.

Thanks to Skinner's efforts, the Lionel Hampton Jazz Festival received the National Medal of Arts in 2007. In 2010, his impact on music education was recognized with the Governor's Awards in the Arts for Support of Arts Education from Idaho Gov. C.L. "Butch" Otter.

Still a resident of Moscow, Doc Skinner continues to share his passion of jazz by teaching and attending the festival each year.

If ever I met an angel, it's Doc Skinner.
Benny Green, jazz pianist

Doc's passion exuded like a beacon attracting the world's greatest jazz musicians and journalists to share their talent, experience, and support. His vision of ensuring the perpetuation of the art form by exposing young people to the music of the masters through performance and education was ingenious!

Dee Daniels, jazz vocalist

LIONEL HAMPTON SCHOOL

The Lionel Hampton School of Music (LHSOM) is a close-knit community of prominent performers, teachers, composers and scholars who interact closely with dedicated and talented students. LHSOM delivers a well-rounded educational experience that is comprehensive and nationally competitive. For more information on the degrees offered, performing ensembles and educational opportunities, please visit us at music.uidaho.edu or email us at music@uidaho.edu.

JAZZ FACULTY

Vern Sielert, Director of Jazz Studies, Trumpet, Jazz Band I

Vern Sielert is professor of trumpet and jazz studies at the University of Idaho. He holds Bachelor of Music degrees in jazz studies and music education, a master's degree in jazz studies from the University of North Texas, and a Doctor of Musical Arts in trumpet performance from the University of Illinois. His compositions and arrangements for jazz orchestra are performed by high school, college and professional groups around the world, including the C.U.G. Big Band (Japan), U.S. Army Jazz Ambassadors and the Count Basie Orchestra. His playing can be heard on recent recordings by the Unhinged Sextet, Palouse Jazz Project, Dan Gailey Jazz Orchestra, Greg Yasinitzky's YAZZ Band, Bob Curnow Big Band, and Phil Kelly's Northwest Prevailing Winds.

Kate Skinner, Jazz Piano, Jazz Band II

Kate Skinner is assistant professor of jazz piano in the Lionel Hampton School of Music and is currently a doctoral candidate in jazz studies at the University of Northern Colorado, studying orchestral conducting as a secondary area. As a jazz pianist and vocalist, Skinner maintains an active performing, composing and teaching career. A native of Ogden, Utah, Skinner pulls influences from the bluegrass and classical roots of her childhood into both her songwriting and performing as a jazz musician. In her teenage and college years, Skinner delved into R&B, funk and hip hop, genres that also find their way into her musical explorations. Her unique voice includes an obsession with alternative keyboard instruments and a study of the great keyboardists of jazz, rock and funk.

Vanessa Sielert, Director, Saxophone

Vanessa Sielert is professor of music and director of the Lionel Hampton School of Music.

Sielert has performed with a wide range of performing groups including the Palouse Jazz Project, the Emerald City Jazz Orchestra, the Tacoma Symphony Orchestra, the Federal Way Symphony, Orchestra Seattle and the Civic Orchestra of Chicago. As a member of the Millennium Saxophone Quartet, she was a medal winner at the prestigious Fischhoff Chamber Music Competition.

She will be releasing her solo classical album, "Duality," in 2020, and has performed as an ensemble member on numerous recordings. She received a Bachelor of Music from the University of Idaho, a Master of Music from Baylor University and a Doctor of Musical Arts from the University of Illinois. She studied saxophone with Robert Miller, Michael Jacobson and Debra Richtmeyer.

Patrick Jones, Saxophone

Patrick Jones has performed as a soloist, recitalist and chamber musician around the world. He is an active performer, educator and clinician. Jones teaches saxophone at the University of Idaho. Other faculty appointments include Edinboro University, University of Iowa, the Allegheny Summer Music Festival and the International Youth Festival.

His most recent solo recording, "La Souplesse," includes music for saxophone and piano with introductory notes by Richard Ingham. He has performed in bands featuring artists such as Marcus Printup, Joe Lovano, Dominick Farinacci, Pat Harbison, Lionel Hampton, Claudio Roditi as well as many others. As a soloist, he has been invited to perform with groups/artists such as the Palouse Jazz Project, Marshall Griffith (Cleveland Institute of Music) and TriBop.

Jones earned his Doctor of Musical Arts in saxophone at the University of Minnesota.

OF MUSIC

Daniel Bukvich, Percussion, Jazz Choirs

Daniel Bukvich, professor of music, has been a member of the faculty of the Lionel Hampton School of Music since 1978. His compositions and arrangements are performed worldwide by symphonic bands, wind ensembles, orchestral winds, choirs, jazz bands, symphony orchestras and marching bands. He teaches percussion, freshman music theory and ear training, composition and jazz choirs. Bukvich is a recipient of the 2012 U.S. Professor of the Year Award for the State of Idaho and is a University Distinguished Professor, the highest faculty distinction at the University of Idaho.

Mark Sweeney, Trombone, Jazz Band III

Mark Sweeney is lecturer of trombone in the Lionel Hampton School of Music. Previously, he was a freelance teacher and performer, appearing as an orchestral trombonist with the Sioux City Symphony and the orchestra for the International Clarinet Association's ClarinetFest 2016. He has performed at notable locations such as the Jazz at Lincoln Center, The John F. Kennedy Center, the Montreux Jazz Festival, Jazz à Vienne, the Umbria Jazz Festival and the Monterey NextGen Jazz Festival. His work can be heard on recordings selected for outstanding DownBeat awards.

Sweeney holds a Doctor of Musical Arts with a concentration in trombone performance from The University of Kansas, a Master of Music in trombone performance from the University of South Dakota, and a Bachelor of Music in music education from The University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

Dave Bjur, Jazz Bass

Dave Bjur is a professional bassist and teacher. His performing career began in 1977 when he joined the U.S. Air Force Band, playing a variety of styles while performing throughout the western United States, Hawaii, Guam, Japan, South Korea and the Philippines. In 1993, he began a four-year role as bassist with the Clayton-Hamilton Jazz Orchestra. Studying with John Clayton since 1987, Bjur has also taken lessons with Ray Brown, John Heard and Paul Ellison. Bjur has been teaching jazz bass at the University of Idaho since 2006. He has taught double bass at Lewis-Clark State College in Lewiston, Idaho, and Whitman College in Walla Walla, Washington. He holds a Bachelor of Arts from the University of Washington.
